What is this life is it all real what do i do with these emotions i feel
No one is listening to a word that i say i sit alone as my life slips away Cant concentrate on the good things i have my mind will focus on anything bad So i will write another sad song in a miserable life is where i belong
If i could hold you and never let go but i can't let you
come into my home
A home of sorrow a home of disgrace where i belong
all alone in this place
If i could hold you and never let go but i can't let you
come into my home
A home of sorrow a home of disgrace where i belong
all alone in this place
I've been corrupted by the evil i lusted mind set astray by the lies that i trusted I've come to far now there's no turning back it's my reign of evil and i must attack Please never feel the way that i do please never think that i want to hurt you I am a monster this i now know i am the scarred up star of the show
If i could hold you and never let go but i can't let you
come into my home
A home of sorrow a home of disgrace where i belong
all alone in this place
If i could hold you and never let go but i can't let you
come into my home
A home of sorrow a home of disgrace where i belong
all alone in this place
When i look into your eyes it all dies
When i look into your eyes it all dies
Now look into my eyes and say goodbye
If i could hold you and never let go but i can't let you
come into my home
A home of sorrow a home of disgrace where i belong
all alone in this place
If i could hold you and never let go but i can't let you
come into my home
A home of sorrow a home of disgrace where i belong
