If I had a mind to lose I'd be searching high and low
If I were capable of telling the truth I could tell you where to go
But it's just not that way
Can you tell me what way it is?
Do you even know yourself?
Or do I have to make it black and white
After all we've been through
Don't you wanna just walk away?
Please don't make me lie to you
Just let me walk away
Just let me walk away from you
I know that there was a time when I could say I love you I guess I could say that now but it just wouldn't be the truth
And I've had my anguish fill
And I can stand proud and tall
But your voice is ringing still
I guess you haven't grown as much as me
After all we've been through
Don't you wanna just walk away?
Please don't make me lie to you
Just let me walk away
Just let me walk away from you
I've spent my time loving your jagged heart
I look down to find my hands cut apart
I know you're tired of hanging around
So let me know when my feet touch the ground
You gotta let me walk now, let me walk now
Well I wanna walk now, let me walk now
You gotta let me walk now, let me walk now
