I walk through a place that no longer exists
I can see my hands dying every second
Voices from the inside telling me that this is the end

Watching my hands die in front of me
In front of me

You weren't there since the beginning
Now it's all dead
All that's left are my dreams
Where I can still find my best nightmares

I can see the thorns piercing my skin
And my eyes bleed when I try to find you
Those little voices still screaming
This is the end
And I can't make them disappear 'cause this is my end

You weren't there since the beginning
Now it's all dead
All that's left are my dreams
Where I can still find my best nightmares

You weren't there since the beginning
Now it's all dead
All that's left are my dreams
Where I can still find my best nightmares
