The pain i have inside
it never goes away its what i have to remember you by every fucking day i stand defenseless all alone to deal with what i've never known the real world waits outside my door ive never faced it like this before i have to stand on my own im afraid, my visions not clear what can i do, where can i go time to be a man and face my fear i thought my life was pefect boy was i fucking wrong i see happiness is what you mkae it good times only last so long youve go to tough it through the hardships the pain will fade away but enjoy the good times wile they last nothing gold will ever stay you've go to look out for number one you dont know when your life is one
