Whats it all about to you you want to dye your hair, have everyone stare it takes more than looking like a frea noone wakes up and decides they're a punk its something you feel, its something you live these are things that you take, but you have to give so many have given so much more you dont know what you want so there's the door get the fuck out
you should be so fucking lucky kids have fought and died for this scene and you still dont know what it means take a look around how many people are gonna keep us down are you gonna fight them all real punks use their head, there's so few of us we dont need another dead and im sorry for the loss but youll never realize the cost this world is gonna keep us down till you open your eyes, and look around will you see what we have do you even fucking care this world is gonna keep us down

will you see what we have do you even fucking care
