Don't tell me everything's alright because I know that
it's not now
Don't tell me everything's alright because I know that
it's not now

This thing it should be working both ways you can't have it your way always
This thing it should be working both ways you can't have it your way always

The last thing that I need right now is Ten more tons of your stinking bullshit,
Your so called helping hand and that false smile,
You can't make me listen to your lies

Don't tell me everything's alright because I know that
it's not now
This thing it should be working both ways you can't have it your way always

The last thing that I need right now is
Ten more tons of your stinking bullshit,
Your so called helping hand and that false smile,
You can't make me listen to your lies
