Dharma Moraine had an unusual brain like the unusual times that she laughed Dancing her dance, and not about an entrance it could be said she gave as good as she got She's bidding her time and slowly losing her mind as she continues the things that she hates So weary of lies and with that look in her eyes you see her running so get out of her way.

she's beginning to start right now
she's beginning to stop right now
she's beginning to start right now
she's beginning to stop right now

she combs her hair
[she's got the automatic]
She's not there
[she's got the automatic]
In her armor
She's feeling safe
[she's got the automatic]
Ow, she chafes
[she's got the automatic]
In her armor

she's got the automatic
she's got the automatic
she's got the automatic
armor
she's got the automatic
she's got the automatic
she's got the automatic

Dharma Moraine just tries her best to maintain Despite continuous wellsprings of doubt She combs the shores while she's not breaking down doors
And does her part to try and figure it out She doesn't care if people stand there and stare
When she remembers the things that she sought She turned her head to the unraveling thread

Well now you really gonna see what she's got

she's beginning to stop right now
she's beginning to start right now

she combs her hair
[she's got the automatic]
She's not there
[she's got the automatic]
In her armor
She's feeling safe
[she's got the automatic]
Ow, she chafes
[she's got the automatic]
In her armor
She holds the keys
[she's got the automatic]
On her knees
[she's got the automatic]
In her armor

She rolls her eyes
[she's got the automatic]
She defies
[she's got the automatic]
In her armor
she's got the automatic
she's got the automatic
armor
