Cut here

Release of all the feeling that is buried in the veins
The worst of your pain is far from torn flesh
Skin opens up, it starts to bleed
It's what you want, it's what you need
You feel the tear, you feel the sting
And then you think you've had enough

The stitches turn to itches turn to tissue turn to scars
But this time it's gone too far
It's etched in skin
The hatred within turned into something sharp and drived itself in

Lovely lovely lovely little red lines
The pain is the drug and I do it all the time
It looks good,
As good as deep as mine
When hearts make war in the middle of the night

Cut here

Release of all the feeling that is buried in the veins
The eyes that you seek
You feel them moving in
"where are you love" and "what is wrong"
"have you been doing this for long"
"what is the ache in you so strong that you can't resist"

I know

Attention and endorphins make a very pretty pair
And wounds make graves for secrets
But time will quell your restless heart
And teach you brand to abuse yourself, yeah

Lovely lovely lovely little red lines
The pain is the drug and I do it all the time
It looks good
As good as deep as mine
When hearts make war in the middle of the night

Lovely lovely lovely little red lines
The pain is the drig and I do it all the time

It looks good
As good as deep as mine
When hearts make war in the middle of the night

Lovely lovely lovely little red lines
The pain is the drug and I do it all the time
It looks good as good as deep as mine
When hearts make war in the middle of the night
