

Death Cab For Cutie "You Remind Me Of Home"

Visit "You Remind Me Of Home" on MotoLyrics.com

You remind me of home: the paint cracks when the water leaks
from the rusty pipes that are just beneath my feet You remind me of home: the heater's warm but fills the room with a potpourri of dust and gas fumes

You remind me of home: a broken bed with dirty sheets that creaks
when I am shifting in my sleep You remind me of home: in a suburban town with nothing to do,
patiently waiting for something to happen But the foundation is crumbling and becoming one with the ground
while you lay there in slumber...
You're wasting your life

You remind me of home: sitting on a thrift store couch, I'm trying to get this all down

Visit Death Cab For Cutie page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.