She says:

make me smile, and I'll never let you down

she says:

hold me tight, and I'll quit this running around this is the only way I know

again tonight,

I taste her mouth and count the men she's kissed

again tonight,

she'll apologize, but won't tell me who she's with

it's your funeral, baby but I'm the one who dies when you tell me you're faking what I've wanted my whole life it's a pop-rock cliché?, but my love is true

if looks could kill, baby, then this one,

this one's for you
