Laura's stars start to go out and Jonah starts to burn
and darken Jonah's world

the story is scribed in light on the sky
a fifteen year old, empty heart, telescope, and too much time

and Jonah starts to burn

with a delicate line he traces her mouth from star to star heart to heart, she's his way out if she could love him then she would find she'd become flesh or i'd become stars, it would be fine

you go out
you think you're the center of my universe heart made of nothing, my love, and light
you think you're the center of my universe but another star goes out each night
