

Death On Wednesday "Life's Heartaches"

Visit "Life's Heartaches" on MotoLyrics.com

Your mother's six feet underground
In the silent night you drown in tears
Nearly twenty one years old
You never felt this world so cold, cold, cold

If you feel life's heartaches
Then you have a lot of things to say
'Cause we all feel life's heartaches
And we have a lot of things to say

At seventeen she dreamed of lights
Now she's dancing in the night for tips
A crying mother gives her son a kiss
As the young boy breathes his last last breath

If you feel life's heartaches
Then you have a lot of things to say
'Cause we all feel life's heartaches
And we have a lot of things to say

Do we see the angels when we fall
In our soft spoken grief?
Did you see the angels break you fall
As you fell from broken dreams

If you feel life's heartaches
Then you have a lot of things to say
'Cause we all feel life's heartaches
And we have a lot of things to say

Visit Death On Wednesday page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.