Land of the brave, home of the free
In god we trust, in liberty Justice prevails, but lies are still told
As we watch our world grow old
So we keep our eyes on the skies
And pray every day for our lives
And the lives of those already taken Our world is forsaken Helpless cries while millions die
for god and government
Helpless cries while millions die
For god and government
Murderers among us, no one is safe

No remores for the life that they take Turn your backs to god and government, and you've sealed our fate.
The great tribulation awaits and that'll be your final mistake God and government Millions die and who's to blame
for god and government Watch religion go up in flames
for god and government Innocent die, they die in vain
for god and government
killing in the name of god and government.
