I light your world, yes, I painted it with sunshine
But all you see is tall gray clouds
You say your freedom is everything, you need time
But all you really want is out

I don't know why you're trying to make it hard now
Put your back up against the wall
Over time I'll forget about your charms now
It ain't so hard for me to take the fall

You can't arrange your life
So there ain't no pain and everything is fine
I see you hang your head down
Can't believe you let yourself unwind

You're always calling on me
Wrap yourself around my shoulders
We make love like perfect strangers
Spill your glass and tell me that you're mine

How easy love decides

You're acting cold, I think you understand I need you
To give affection to keep me warm
I ain't trying to hold you down nor to bleed you
Or give you shelter from the storm

You can't arrange your life
So there ain't no blame and no one's left behind
I see you change your heart now
Can't believe you let yourself unwind

I'm always falling for you
Wrap myself around your fingers
We make love like perfect strangers
Spill your glass and tell me that you're mine

How easy love
It's so easy how love decides

You can't arrange your life
So there ain't no blame and no one's left behind

I see you change your heart now
Can't believe you let yourself unwind

I'm always falling for you
Wrap myself around your fingers
We make love like perfect strangers
Spill your glass and tell me that you're mine

How easy love
It's so easy how love
How easy love decides
