Darkness is falling and spirits arise
Hatred and evil now blacken the skies.
With every word chanted a new star will fall
And eternal darkness shall soon cover all

Time corrupts as one shall see Through bleak and hateful misery
Enslaved for deeds to man unknown Deprived of godly rightful throne Where once was love it now bears spite Where once it healed it now spreads blight Forced to sleep against its will Left in chains, that is until...

In robes of darkest crimson
And with purpose set in stone Chant a group of men determined to bring back what is unknown Reciting words forbidden and foregoing all restraint In a circle charged with power to restore an ancient reign

And so we shout his name for all the world to hear!
And so we let the heavens tremble in fear!

Nehebu-Kau...The great beast now awakes
Nehebu-Kau...Behold the lord of snakes
Nehebu-Kau...Hope has long since gone
Nehebu-Kau...For he has killed the dawn

Darkness is falling and spirits arise
Hatred and evil now blacken the skies.
With every word chanted a new star will fall
And eternal darkness shall soon cover all

And so we shout his name for all the world to hear!
And so we let the heavens tremble in fear!

Nehebu-Kau...The great beast now awakes

Nehebu-Kau...For he has killed the dawn

In caverns lost now to the world a long gone evil wakes under the sands of a forgotten land sirrning from a cold embrace ragged breaths grow steady now and closed eyes open anew chains of bondage disappear its strength is now renewed

Behold the serpent headed god as he breaks free of his tomb rising from the burning sands
From darkened places now exhumed
And as the skies begin to darken the world lets out a cry for all that once was good and pure has now laid down and died

Darkness has fallen and spirits arose
Hatred and evil have vanquished their foes.
Every word chanted has left the skies bare
And shrouded the world now is in despair

And so we shout his name for all the world to hear!
And so we let the heavens tremble in fear!

Nehebu-Kau...The great beast now awakes
Nehebu-Kau...Behold the lord of snakes
Nehebu-Kau...Hope has long since gone

Hatred and evil have vanquished their foes.
Every word chanted has left the skies bare
And shrouded the world now is in despair
