Graveyard spawn, the night I choose The blood is the life, my humanity I lose from shadow to shadow, under cover of dark From graveyard to alley, for blood I embark White fangs a gleaming, my eyes light up too A lone woman I see, at the zenith of the moon Helpless and lonesome, a perfect delight for me and my bloodlust, because of my blight

we are the vampires we are undead we're coming for you our thirst must be fed

My teeth meet her white neck, her blood it comes forth my tongue runs along it, she's restrained by my force she lets out a sigh and then falls to the ground I retreat into darkness with no trace nor a sound

Her body lies lifeless, found by her kin put into a crypt and corroded by sin and so cometh from death, a new plague is here to feed upon the living, to breed upon fear

we are the vampires we are undead
we're coming for you our thirst must be fed
we are the vampires we are undead
we're coming for you our thirst must be fed

They send out their parties under blackness of night to seek out my evil with their torches alight strength in numbers or so they presume I attack with my minions their control I assume
we are the vampires we are undead
