Written in blood
(Let it be)
Written in blood

On the darkest of nights
In a chamber of stone Gather's round a black altar Laiden with bone
A group of men robed Watch with bright eyes as a beautiful woman let's out her last cries

As the woman in bondage is shackled to stone the men's faces gleam and she lets out a groan
And from the shadows
Bearing a dagger
And a life ends henceforth

Written in blood
infernal vocations an unholy display of profane incantations let it be written in blood!

Blood smeared on the altar is left to conjeal
and the men draped in darkness go down and kneel another gift given and more to come soon

The men ready for hunting Neath the red moon

Torches die down
And all fades from light and the men once again embrace the night

They step through the darkness
Over grass and through mud Their fates shall they follow as it's written in blood

Let no man feel safety
For all can be found Torn from their sanctum
To altar then bound Remember these words and remember them well Treasure your daylight for at night you're in hell

When the night sky is barren save for a red moon no man is immortal
That shall be known soon So close all your windows and lock all your doors Though that shall not save you from the nights horrors
