Some people lose themselves in lovers who just take
They sacrifice thinking the bough will never break
I give my heart to you but never lose myself
Drinkin' from an endless well
And I see you in the mirror
When I look at myself
And I see you disappear just enough
For me to be someone else
I have been tossed by love and pulled out by the tide
Always undressing in the artificial light
I stripped down to the truth, you were looking in my eyes
Together we will fall and rise
(Chorus)
We are one and we are two
Slipping into you
Some people lose themselves in lovers who just take
They sacrifice thinking the bough will never break
I give my heart to you but never lose myself
Deeper still each time I fell
And I see you in the mirror
When I look at myself
And I see you disappear just enough
For me to be someone else
