"Humans Dust"

Light- a flash in the eye of the truth
Darkness- a sea of eternal sin
We, the shadows without destination
Following the spark, the whisper of the unknown
The beast of time and truth of the universe
The human thought trudging from the creation
To catch a falsity that is no more
The struggle of forces the struggle of the unknown
One that defies the dust and ruin of mankind
The fire of the truth burning bright forever
Whose light in the world is but visible
Children of the stars that glare without death
Are burning the moment to expire forever
Tears and pain are signs of futile desires
Unknown and lost in the storms of force
