Standing, caught up in the aisle
By overflowing lights they fake the moment
Reminiscing former love, I'm laughing
And I'm reaching for someone to cover me

I'm wandering empty streets
Then broken hearts just crashing
Thinking how I could escape the feeling
Lost control and nothing could have make myself alive

Seeking the road of joy and tranquility
Where am I going now?
I need a light to shine on me
I'm all alone now
I'm wonderin' and I'm hoping
And I'm waiting my chance to look

City lights they're all with me
They fill me with serenity
They're coming one by one
Until I separate my mind into the light
And I've got my chance to look

Descent chains of neon symbols
I've been seeing lots and lots of colors
How exciting, leaning through the breeze of lonely hours

City lights they're all with me
They fill me with serenity
They're coming one by one
Until I separate my mind into the light
And I've got my chance to look
I've got my chance to look
I've got my chance to look
I've got my chance to look

Seeking the road of joy and tranquility
Where am I going now?
I need a light to shine on me
I'm all alone now
I'm wonderin' and I'm hoping

And I'm waiting my chance
Waiting my chance
Waiting my chance
Waiting my chance

City lights they're all with me
They fill me with serenity
They're coming one by one
Until I separate my mind into the light

City lights they're all with me
They fill me with serenity
They're coming one by one
Until I separate my mind into the light
And I've got my chance to look
