This is a dedication for our friend Josh, A person who had so much ahead of him,
A person who will always miss,
Rest in Peace;
This is for you Josh

Dear God,
I lost a friend who tried to live a better day who filled with illness and sickness that made him past away Josh Velasway lovin my homie is the over coming days you'll be remembered and I'm still here missing you today you have missin' your smile hollain' your name through the hall hearing the fact why you hatin all them haters and all but now we know that your happy where you stand up
you lookin down see your homies prayin' for you each day making us think about the memories and the time we spent you were the best and you know that we can never forget you still my brother and I'm sorry for all the hurtful, sickness pain
we always here for yah there ain't gon be no change homie we still the same I know you bless me each day and night
I pray and I know that everything gon be okay I see your face smiling back with a special look in your eyes make me wanna smile back with tears from my eyes I ain't gon lie I miss you each day keep strong you know pray for ya each and everyday till we together smiling and hugging up in the gates homie I hate to see more changes you ain't here today we pray

(Chorus)

Im crying night and day I dont know what to state we still remain the homies even tho you ain't here
today,
Im crying night and day I dont know what to state
we still remain the homies even tho you ain't here

Ever since you was gone, but I still wonder why the Lord took you away, you're bringin tears to my eyes my homies talkin bout it at night they sit up and cry but I know you in a betta place watching from the sky I keep my head up I know I gotta go on I keep you in my heart and pray I know I gotta keep strong I keep your name alive as I try to survive from day to day you always bringing me a smile

(repeat chorus)

I remember your smile I remember the laughs we had all the times that we shared together will never be forget and it will always last
