It's like a garden with one flower and a man feeding it power A symbiosis they welcome and greet growing stronger every time they meet It's like a river ending in a sea (guess that river is me)
A time will come when water must out Lack of need is what it's all about

This is the way I see you but then I guess you don't want me too
But after all, what can I do?
When I think for once, my love is true

I...I could die for you, if I only knew that you would remember me too Trapped between fear and desire A thousand internal wars
You are the wood feeding my fire am I the water on yours?

This is the way I see you
but then I guess you don't want me too
But after all, what can I do?
When I think for once, my love is true

I...I could die for you, if I only knew
that you would remember me too

Eating the meat raw on my heart you gnaw Living from my tears

You're eating my meat raw through my soul you saw Living from my tears
