Guess this star was meant to be as it was my call
But what really bothers me it seem so small

Is that the reason why it's done with charm?
Then all this is a lie
to cause me harm
But when it comes to pain
I let it drain
And with my blood I spell farewell to the flesh

That's another return, another loss
All the feelings I burn, and all that was

Farewell to the flesh-tearing it up at daytime
And farewell to the rest-burning it down at night
That's another return another loss
All the feelings I burn, and all that was

As I am embraced by the universe
I think of things I could do reverse

Is this the final end of all that was?
I cannot comprehend
The size of my loss

Farewell to the flesh- tearing it up at daytime
And farewell to the rest- burning it down at night

That's another return, another loss
All the feelings I burn, and all that was
