Driving down the highway Thinking about a friend Thinking about the World & the mess that we are in Ran into a stranger Offered him a ride He said thanks alot friend & then he jumped inside I turned on the radio Heard a preacher say Jesus Christ is coming back & it just might be today

& he said Jesus is coming, Jesus is coming Coming back soon

Turned on the headlights Pushed on the gears Said give me some warning When your stop is near I looked at the roadmap Looked at the signs Turned off the radio Turned off my mind Then I heard him say it I couldn't believe my ears & when I turned to look at him The stranger disappeared

I've heard all the stories Heard them all for years Never thought I'd entertain An angel unaware I should of understood it Scripture makes it clear That any stranger that you meet Could up and disappear
