"Talking To The Wall"

Oh I might as well be talking to the wall

I've known so long with me you've been unsatisfied
So I finally found the strenght to say goodbye
Why already I forgot a million memories
And leaving you was easy as could be

But I might as well be talking to the wall
When I tell myself I'm not missing you at all
Cause every time you come around I fall
And I might as well be talking to the wall [steel]
It seems there's not a day that some friend of mine
Don't bring back a mem'ry I'll recall
Then I smile and say you know it's been a long long time
And I hardly remember her at all

But I might as well be talking to the wall...
Yes I might as well be talking to the wall
