Okay

Chorus:

You got to know what your love is worth

Every boy you got to know what your love is worth

Every girl you got to know what your love is worth

Everybody got to know what their love is worth

Yeah, you got to know what your love is worth

As soon as a child is born and discovers self

It's a part of life, so don't get fucked in the end

If someone's a lost cause, there'll be someone up to start again

Example, you a woman, in a relationship

It seems like everything you do makes him flip

It ain't physical violence, or nothing like that

But the love that you show he doesn't show back

But it started when you first met

You looked incredible to him, he wanted to get his thirst wet

(yeah, I bet)

He wanted to be down like Brandy

At first his overbearing persona was so manly (oooooh)

But now you're thinkin' most of the time, "he can't stand me"

He lost trust in you when he saw you with Randy (haha)

But then you find out he feel good about Candy

You thinkin' this relationship is really demanding

Everyone makes mistakes and that's true

But from the beginning did he really love you?

To him you a bitch, he told his boys he dug you out

And nowadays he don't even hug you (doubts)

And I'm sure it do more than bug you

You wonder how you get attracted to these

With a mackin' disease, with the tactics to please

But once you settle down you're entrapped in a squeeze

Like a boa constrictor and he know when he gets ya

You got to know what your love is worth

That way you don't waste it on a world goin' berserk

Yeah, (chorus) x2

(guys talking)

Now put yourself in the shoes of this guy

You fall in love with this girl and you don't know why (why dude?)
Cause you don't feel the same but u give it a try
Eyes wide, like you a child in a candy store
Even though you the one she couldn't stand before Cause you was houndin' her, surroundin' her (damn) with confusion
You used to be friends, but now the friendship is losin'
Cause you visualizin' romance, and she like "no, hands off"
She don't wanna fuck with no man, "not even a slow dance?"
You tried to kiss her and she even agrees
But that don't mean you 'bout to be Adam and Eve
In the Garden of Eden, but maybe for the evening
You say she leading you on, but you just addin' pressure
Of course she like you, you're friends don't try to test her
She says she likes you as a friend, not a lover or wife
So get a life, let her live hers and find another Don't let her smash her ego, cause we know you're great
Let it be her mistake, yeah
Don't waste your time bro cause you know
If she don't appreciate what he do for her
Then tell me why he should wait around
