If you can believe you're turning
On a world that broke your mind
Then I can do something for you
Even though you're lost in time
You won't have to be my heaven
I won't have to be your friend

For daylight comes every time, it's coming
Daylight, it goes away again now

Don't let go of your heart
Don't let go of your heart
Don't let go of your heart
Don't let go of your heart

When you feel the time has come
Everything you wanted
When you feel the time has come
I'm everything you've ever wanted

Feeling like your skin is burning
One too many drops of rain
But it's doing nothing to me
Drowning in a sea of pain
You won't have to be my heaven
I won't have to be your friend

For daylight comes every time, it's coming
Daylight, it goes away again now

Don't let go of your heart
Don't let go of your heart
Don't let go of your heart
Don't you know who you are?

Don't let go of your heart
Don't let go of your heart
Don't let go of your heart
Don't let go of your heart
