Who will heal these wounds that were made by mankind This is not forever

as I try to stay alive by these lasts breaths I breathe and will you remember me as the pictures on the stain glass window fade away
and will you remember me
when all memories are lost

As I hide away from this place we call life while I drown in my own self pity for what is lost a soul that cries for feeling healing and for what I don't know

As I cry for you to heal me please let you wings fall down and embrace for I am alone

As I cry out please listen for only a few words I speak Save... This... Save this crippled body For I am not a crutch for you to use me And as I leave this place with no heart or no feeling I ask one favor... remember me when im gone
