

Deliverance

"River Disturbance"

Visit "River Disturbance" on MotoLyrics.com

Heaven's camp's been taken.
The Earth is your footstool.
Dust, I was created.
To it, I will return.
The mind, it cannot fathom God nailed to a tree.
Life is like a raging river, racing to the sea.

Now I'm drowning in the river disturbance, longing to depart.
Though I've grown weary of the river disturbance,
you're calling to my heart.
You're calling to my heart.

There is a shore by the river of disturbance.
There is a place, we call it "Peace on Earth".
Make it to the shoreline of the river of disturbance.
Yeah, you got to go on under for a second birth.

Now I'm drowning in the river of disturbance. }
I hear you calling me.
I hear you in the flood.
I hear you calling me now.

(Lead Solo)

Standing here, crying out to you, though my hope speaks no words.
Like a river's fill me to push away all my hurts.

Now I'm drowning in the river disturbance, longing to
depart.
Though I've grown weary of the river disturbance,
you're calling to my heart.
Now my body's in the river disturbance, you're calling to my heart. - 2Xs

Visit Deliverance page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.