This was the place where we first met
It was a place we loved
That was the place where we once laughed
Where our lives begun
This was the place where I opened my eyes
And I began to see
This is the place where we fell in love
And where my life was taken from me
So how do I tell this story
Of someone I love so much
When she lost her feelings for me
I lost my ability to love
Have you ever loved someone so much
It hurts like hell
To see the love that she once gave to you
She gives to someone else
Have you ever, ever loved
To find yourself
Knowing the love that she gave
The love you made
The cries of praise
She saved for someone else
Oh, she was so beautiful
And I never could see
Why would a girl like her
Be with someone like me
There was a time I had her heart
A time I'll never forget
I thought that time would reserrect
But I'd had lost her from the start
So how do I tell this story
Of someone I love so much
She lost her feelings for me
I lost my ability to love
