Caught in the vortex of time now ending, traveller transformed to something else Bring back the core of wisdom, that this world now ends

Inverted pyramids of human flesh, enthroned the sky and whisper Below all hell awaits, to burst through cloaked gateways

Sordid dreams now come to flesh, you might be the saviour

Cut through the veil of sick, just to discover but human flesh

And then its all too late, meet the army of pigs Where to hide, in a world left to its own burial

By a flap of its wings, this world comes undone
The butterfly from Tibet, infernal onset...
