It's time to get together
Thank God the night has passed
Thru evil and thru good things
You know we all must pass
It's time to make decisions
To see a better day
A lesson from this nightmare
We won't be fools again
Looking back on history
See confusion
And on every page the same mistake
And where's the line
Between the darkness and the light?
So short on time to be waiting for a sign
When you're stretched out on that line
It's time to make decisions
To see a better day
A lesson from this nightmare

We won't be fools again
Do we look for new beginnings
In the future or the past?
The end was always there right from the start
So take your time
You ain't going anywhere
Don't be so blind
You'll never cheat your fate
Don't your blow that fuse too late
It's all a mystery
Though I know it to be true
It's still a mystery
And it still comes down to you
You see it's just a point of view
It's time to make decisions
To see a better day
A lesson from this nightmare
We won't be fools again
