I promised I will be there I swear im on my way i know you may not here me but thats the price ill pay and i dont know how i would ever go all alone walking on my own

like angels you were floating to me and thats how it should be cause i dont want to waste another moment i dont want to pay for things unspoken i just want to race with arms wide open take a shot in the dark to be where you are i dont want to watch the world keep changing when im not with you my heart keeps shaking cover up my eyes and just stop pacing take a shot in the dark to be where you are i promise you im gonna be there i wanna be there

no matter what happens no matter how tragic cause

clock is ticking the world is spinning our lifes are passing us by cause i dont want to watch the world keep changing when im not with you my heart keeps shaking cover up my eyes and just stop pacing take a shot in

dark to be where you are take a shot in the dark
