Someday, Somewhere
You said hello
And walked into my life
Painted all my words in blue
Made my life a dream come true
Someday, Somewhere
I held your hand
And suddenly I knew
That your love
Could show the way
To my rainbow's end

You gave my heart
A song to sing
Chained my wild imaginings
Time for us where sunshine never ending
Each morning was a melody
Sinful words in harmony
And you are all my eyes could wish to see

You said hello
And walked into my life>

Oh, so unexpectedly
Oh, so very tenderly

I held your hand

And suddenly I knew>

That your love
Could show the way
To my rainbow's end

You gave my heart
A song to sing
Chained my wild imaginings
Time for us where sunshine never ending
Each morning was a melody
Sinful words in harmony

And you are all my eyes could wish to see

Someday, Somewhere
Our song went by
And left us standing there
Silently I walked away
Leaving me with yesterday

Someday, Somewhere
We'll meet again
And we'll pretend in vain
Trying to convince ourselves
Our love was just a game
Game
Game
