we say we know that love is true i say we don't because we wouldn't do what we do but thank God for consciousness and for the chance to regret thank God that we're able to forgive and sometimes even forget we can sit here and wait out the sun 'til another day or we can suck it all up and we can set it straight too many times do we act without a thought and too many times do we lie and not get caught how many days will we let pass with what we've done with what we've said and where we've gone is this what we call love
