we have seen it all when we didn't think we would there is nothing new under the sun we have felt it all when we didn't think we could the pain is overwhelming and it has just begun how can we stand to live how can we stand to die is there anyone brave enough to see their life is there anyone brave enough to see God cry this is a great age for a rescue mission a perfect time to save the world
a perfect time to save us boys and girls we have heard it all when we didn't think we could we've run out of truths to bend and break we have done it all when we knew that we should not have but we did it anyway without a care for the price we'd have to pay
