you say 'till the end as you hold me close the music starts and the dance begins as we sway turn and bend promises are made and the words you say seem to heal and mend
i say to myself this must be love everytime we meet you become a bigger part of me and everytime we leave it tears a hole through the heart of me so go ahead take me in break me down and then build me back up again and we'll stay 'till the end or forever whichever comes first until we ascend.
