It feels like the 80's
When we were much smaller
But somehow felt bigger than now
Come summer my brother
You say you will marry
By this time next year it will be
You came with a ring
The obvious thing
And we were all smiling so wide
It feels like the 80's
When we were much smaller
But somehow felt bigger tha now
It feels like the 80's
When our world was honest
It sometimes feels less honest now
The love of another
The cradle and cover
By this time next year will it be
We long for this things
These obvious things
When we can feel complete inside
It feels like the 80's
When our world was honest
But nothing feels more honest now
More honest now...
