They feed us boredom and depression yet our bleeding hearts are filled with passion. We've got fire in our eyes. We're true lovers and we don't belong.
Their world means nothing to us and when it falls to dust we won't shed a single tear. We're true lovers and we won't look back. Won't take my sleeping pills tonight. Let's just pretend like we're alive. As I look in your eyes I see what it might be like to be free. Stay home from work with me. Try not to think about what they'd say. Let's stay up the whole night because none of this matters. We could get all dressed up and smash some windows at the mall, then dance the night away.
Stay home from work with me. Try not to think about what they'd say. Let's stay up the whole night because none of this matters
