Come back
Come back to me
I'll be waiting here
Patiently

Come back
Come back to me
I'll be waiting here
Patiently

I've been walking a thin, white line
Between love and hate
I could use a little company
A little kindness can go a long way

Weeks turn into months
Months turn into years
Reaching the same conclusions
Gathering up the fear

Come back
Come back to me
I'll be waiting here
Patiently

I've been walking a thin, white line
Between love and hate
I could use a little company
A little kindness can go a long way

Weeks turn into months
Months turn into years
Reaching the same conclusions
Gathering up the fear

Come back
Come back to me
I'll be waiting here
Patiently

Light will always shine
In the heart of you

In truth and in reality
Only blindness can hide it away
I could use a little restraint
A little kindness can go a long way

Weeks turn into months
Months turn into years
Reaching the same conclusions
Gathering up the fear
Living the same delusion
Gathering up the fear
Gathering up the fear
Gathering up the fear
Gathering up the fear

Come back
