Well, I'm on the road
And I've traveled so far
Through the roads and winding hills
It seems my travels never still

And I ride through the wind
Rain, sleet or snow
And will I ever stop
If I do not for a while

And the road where I live
Always seems to call
(Seems to call my name)
And the road where I live
Always seems to call my name

And I have no worries
And my troubles seem far away
All is peaceful in this space
With a smile across my face

I don't need no one
To show me all life has to give
They say I have no one
But I like the way it is

And the road where I live
Always seems to call
(Seems to call my name)
And the road where I live
Always seems to call
(Seems to call my name)

And the road
Always seems to call
(Seems to call my name)
And the road where I live
Always seems to call my name

My name, my name, my name
My name, my name, my name, my name

And the road where I live
Always seems to call
(Seems to call my name)
And the road where I live
Always seems to call
(Seems to call my name)

And the road
Always seems to call
(Seems to call my name)
And the road where I live
Always seems to call

I don't have no worry
About people and what they say
Because I live a different way
Was born to never stay
