This cloud of doubt now hangs above our love
And it's causing my poor heart to break in two
And every time I look into your eyes
I see trusting you was makin' me a fool

Lies, lies, lies, why am I surprised
Every time I look at you I see it in your eyes
The little white ones I can handle, baby can't you see
I know now you were lyin' when you said that you loved me

Now everyone in town knows where you've been
And they're tellin' me you playin' me like a fool
You did something I would never do
I guess you never learned the golden rule

Lies, lies, lies, why am I surprised

Every time I look at you I see it in your eyes
The little white ones I can handle, baby can't you see
I know now you were lyin' when you said that you loved me

So add my name to your long list of fools
Who didn't know the price they had to pay
You won't have ol' me to kick around
'Cause I'm gonna turn my back and walk away

Lies, lies, lies, why am I surprised
Every time I look at you I see it in your eyes
The little white ones I can handle, baby can't you see
I know now you were lyin' when you said that you loved me
Yes I know now you were lyin' when you said that you loved me
