He had a bottle in his left hand a cigarette in his right I thought now theres a sinner when he asked me for a light.

He hit me for a dollar I just turned and walked away. I was feeling high and mighty when I heard him say

Chorus

Pray for me, pray for me, pray for me

And I will pray for you

I thought who is he to pray for me as I hit my power lock Again the weight of my hypocrisy fell on me like a rock
I caught him at the corner I gave him my last ten I said please forgive me brother and until we meet again

Chorus

Bridge

You know each of us is broken somewhere deep inside
And were really not that different if you strip away the pride

Weve all got our struggles and chains that we cant break

And youll never know the difference one simple prayer might make

I stood there on the corner and I watched him drifting off

As the sun behind St. Marys made the shadow of a cross

On a street, busy people going places on the run
And felt like calling to each and every one

Chorus
