

Despair

"A Distant Territory"

Walking through the doorways of our souls we always step into a distant space where our spirits fly unchained and are forever free in the land of our dreams far away from cold reality Through magic territories we travel on and try to search for answers within our minds

Suddenly a dream passes by a cold wind blows to freeze my mind I'm torn back into reality the end of all my fantasies I wish myself back into the dream while I fight against the stream as coldness grips my heart I fall down into the dark
