threatening predominant thunder growls sending felonious packs of hounds dust covered the peace from bad to the worse the silly red breed was about to burst a place where the angels got prostitutes and gods are precursors of breaking rules casting a gloom over those who believe that beasts could be changed into human beings in dodge city

dodge city

denaturalized in a sea full of blood no security to find in this crimson mud dishonoured town too tough to die like a leaf that is caught in the endless tide

dodge city
dodge city
