Compelled to copulate I'm not disappointed to be ugly as a human when the lancet starts to pierce my skin, slashing, cutting the reproductive tool compel to copulate castrate, dissect the base of human silliness finish with the impulsion I disowned what I don't deserve sex is now running your lives harassed by subjective circumstances we succumb by machination too much subliminal it's infecting our brain regularly soaking with sex humans drowning in a pathetic circle, more disgusting than animal instincts man has pushed the nastiness too far, constantly present in everyone's mind rise in an infatuated world our soul, impregnated with sexual perversion and sickening growing variations this is just a fragmentation that I'll eternally desecrate revolting state of being for human kind I hope your misrepresentation will wipe out human races with all viral syndromes created by your avidity you will suffer when your infected blood will condemn your pathetic existence of bestial activities.
