"She Made Me Remember"

She was pretty and she laughed a lot Lord knows these days I need some laughter So I called her up and I took her out she never dreamed what I was after I wanted her lips I wanted her bad I wanted her love to clear my head
I wanted her to make me forget you but instead she made me remember

She looked at me with the softest eyes and spoke to me in a gentle whisper
And her body felt like it was gonna melt when I held her close and kissed her
I wanted her lips...

All the nights that I spent dyin' in your arms she made me remember
As she slowly drew up a pattern on my back with a soft side of her finger so tender
I wanted her lips...
I guess I'll always be in love with you she made me remember
