Won't it ever be morning won't the dawn ever break Won't it ever quit hurtin' how much can I take A man could go crazy in the shape that I'm in I love you and miss you so much won't it ever be morning again

It's barely twelve o'clock but I've already spent a lifetime
Just sittin' here and wishin' it was any time but nighttime Outside the winds are moanin' low and I just heard it thunder Your picture on the wall just laughed at me and I just wonder Won't it ever be morning...
I love you and miss you so much won't it ever be
morning again
