I got a fire burning, I feel it buried deep inside Taking everything we've got like a thief at night We'll keep the world from turning, oh if it's all that we've got left
To find our way out of the dark to get into the light
The finish line is at your door, is that what you're waiting for

Throw your head up in the sky, it's unmistakable
That we will go look the fear in the eye tonight
Now we're unbreakable

I feel the stakes are rising and it's long since overdue Oh I swear we'll never know where it's leading to We'll keep this ship from sinking if it's all that we've got left
As I almost reach the end I finally see this through Don't wait for time to save you

We fight, we crawl, we slip and take the fall
Anything to make it through somehow
We climb, lose control, we trip and hit the wall
Oh time and the season's the reason I can see it now
