Close your mind stop trying to understand me false psycho-analysis just know that this life hasn't been real good broken home and more broken dreams than ever imagined
a question mark where a pretend dad once stood and a mother so consumed by regret life hasn't been real good

there are no skies in my new utopia I'm so spent now that i envy the dead and my most intimate thoughts are on ways to kill everyone... even me no one is safe you must alleviate all the pain I'm going through create a way to run away from the inadequacy that i am
